Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 24 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Clearing skies overnight, then dry, sunny and cold on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showery rain at first this evening, but this will clear away to the south, with much clearer skies following from the north. Turning cold under the starry skies with a fairly widespread frost developing away from the coasts. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Thursday:
Thursday will be a largely dry and sunny day, but it will feel much colder than on Wednesday. Some patchy cloud may develop in places, particularly over the Pennines. Breezier. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Windier on Friday, with rain then showers. Possibly very windy on Saturday with gales and heavy showers, wintry over hills. Winds easing considerably by Sunday and becoming drier and sunnier.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.